Reflection

The central gift of our Catholic faith is the Eucharist, the “thanksgiving” we share when we invite Christ’s real presence into our bodies. This physical reality is also the aspect of Catholicism that separates us from most other Christian denominations. And yet, today’s readings show us just how seamless the elevation of this act is, from the establishment of God’s relationship with Abraham to the first Christian communities.

This Food That Strengthens Us

The wise men paid homage to Christ’s body even when it was lying in a manger. Foreigners who did not worship the true God left their homes and their native land, set out on a long journey, and on reaching its end, worshipped in great fear and trembling. They only saw Christ in a manger, they saw nothing of what you now see, and yet they approached him with profound awe and reverence. You see him, not in a manger but on an altar . . . and you see the Spirit bountifully poured out upon the offerings of bread and wine. Unlike the wise men, you do not merely see Christ’s body: you know his power as well, and whole divine plan for our salvation. Having been carefully instructed, you are ignorant of none of the marvels he has performed. Let us then awaken in ourselves a feeling of awe and let us show a far greater reverence than did those foreigners, for we shall bring down fire upon our heads if we approach this sacrament casually, without thinking of what we do.

By saying this I do not mean that we should not approach it, but simply that we should not do so thoughtlessly. Just as coming to it in a casual way is perilous, so failing to share in this sacramental meal is hunger and death. This food strengthens us; it emboldens us to speak freely to our God; it is our hope, our salvation, our light, and our life. If we go to the next world fortified by this sacrifice, we shall enter its sacred portals with perfect confidence, as though protected all over by armour of gold.

St. John Chrysostom,

Homily on the First Letter to the Corinthians

John Chrysostom (ca. 347–407), an early Church Father and Doctor of the Church, was known for his eloquent preaching on Sacred Scripture.

On the Way Home from Mass...

Why is it important to come to Mass and receive Holy Communion?

Passing on the Faith

Catholic schools and Catholic religious education programs transform our communities into centers of faith, hope, and charity by providing quality Catholic formation.

Are you interested in working for the Archdiocese of Anchorage- Juneau? Currently, they are hiring! If you have the skill set for an office environment you might be the right candidate for the job! AOAJ is looking to hire someone to assist the Judicial Vicar and the Tribunal staff with administrative support of case management. Follow the link for more details! aoaj.org/jobs

The St. Joseph “Men”-ions, a group of Holy Cross dads, their sons, and single men, are inviting men and boys of the parish to a service project for Holy Cross. Many of the pews in the church are wiggly and in need of light maintenance. If you can operate a Phillips screw driver or have metric Allen wrenches please join us on Sat, June 25, from 9-11am to give a little more life to the pews. We will put the coffee on and might even have a few munchies.
